

IEEE Computer Society Board of Governors

The Computer Society is governed by the Board of Governors. Members are elected for a three-year term.

The duties and responsibilities and qualifications of the IEEE Computer Society's Board members are as follows:

Functions

The functions of the IEEE Computer Society Board member shall be to:

- (a) Provide guidance, at the policy level to all organization entities within the Society.
- (b) Set direction and strategy for the Society.
- (c) Review the performance of the program boards and other committees to assure compliance with its policy directions.

Duties and Responsibilities

The duties and responsibilities of a IEEE Computer Society Board of Governors member shall be to:

- (a) Attend all Board of Governors meetings and telecons as required.
- (b) Have significant involvement in in Board and Society activities.
- (c) Assist the President and Executive Committee by carryout out additional ad-hoc assignments.
- (d) Identify and develop potential future volunteer leaders for the Society.

Qualifications

The qualifications for the IEEE Computer Society Board of Governors member include the following:

- (a) Must be of a member of the Computer Society.
- (b) Must be able to commit a significant amount of time to the position.
- (c) Should have the support of his/her employer in meeting the obligations of the position.

Estimated I Time Requirements:

(a) In-Person Meetings

Computer Society Meetings 2-3 days/3 times per year

(b) Material Review 2-5 hours/month

(Examples: email, agendas, correspondences, reports, minutes)

(c) Teleconferences Up to 3 per year, as needed (1-2 hours each)