Present Your Best Image...

DICOMED sets the standard for effective communications.

Graphics are powerful tools for any communication situation. Understanding and retention of information is dramatically improved through their use. By allowing trends and relationships to be perceived quickly, visuals can make solutions obvious. Decision making is more efficient, and more effective.

For presentation and persuasion, high quality graphics reflect well on you, your message, and even on the image of your company. That's why DICOMED is committed to designing products that will give you maximum impact with the highest quality image possible. With image recording technology they perfected in the

These three images demonstrate the upward compatibility of the DICOMED product system. Images produced on any design station can be enhanced or modified by transmitting them to a DICOMED design station with greater creative capabilities. All final images are recorded on film by a DICOMED Color Image Recorder, assuring the same ultra high quality output from each level of design station.
