COMPUTING IN SCIENCE & ENGINEERING COMMENDS VOLUNTEER REVIEWERS

Computing in Science & Engineering applauds its outstanding volunteer reviewers. Drawing on their expert knowledge, these reviewers gave careful scrutiny to each magazine submission, guided authors in improving their manuscripts, and selected the top articles for publication. Their hard work and exacting standards have helped bring the best work in computational science to these pages in 2011, ensuring the consistently high quality of the peer-reviewed articles appearing in each issue. We acknowledge our reviewers here publicly and express our sincere appreciation for their generous contributions to Computing in Science & Engineering.
