TESTING A NEW COMMUNICATIONS SYSTEM HAS ALWAYS MEANT CROSSING NEW FRONTIERS.

The Pony Express. Like any new idea, it had to be tested. That meant traveling in uncharted terrain. And taking a certain amount of risk.

Today the communications industry is traveling faster than ever. And we're the test company that's blazing new trails.

Over 70 major communications companies throughout the world have invested in LTX production test equipment to ensure that the millions of electronic devices they make or buy work reliably and accurately.

Codec to line cards, video processors to image arrays, modems to local area networks, and devices for tomorrow's integrated system digital network. If it affects the way the world communicates, LTX will pioneer a way to test it.
