DEPARTMENTS

Natural Web Interfaces
46 Is Bigger Better When It Comes to Android Graphical Pattern Unlock?
Adam J. Aviv, Ravi Kuber, and Devon Budzitowski

Standards
52 Enabling “Protocol Routing”: Revisiting Transport Layer Protocol Design in Internet Communications
Kai Zheng

Internet Governance
58 A Layered Model for AI Governance
Urs Gasser and Virgilio A.F. Almeida

COLUMN

Backspace
63 Desirable Properties of Internet Identifiers
Vinton G. Cerf

26 IEEE Computer Society Info
C3 Call for Papers
While currently intended for sharing personal content, future social media applications could support broader interactions, including business and government. Such applications could use agents that form communities, foster communications, vote, and collaborate to formulate policies and reach decisions. This special issue addresses several of the ways that software agent capabilities intersect with the demands of social media.