CALL FOR PAPERS

26th Lake Arrowhead Workshop: Specifying Concurrent Systems in the Year 2000, Sept. 16-18, Lake Arrowhead, Calif. Deadline: May 15. The workshop will ask "What hope do we have for designing correct concurrent programs in the year 2000? In fact, how will we describe such programs so that reasonable system specifications can be written?" The workshop's attendance is limited; those interested in making a presentation should call immediately. Contact Brent Hailpern, IBM T.J. Watson Research Center, PO Box 704, Yorktown Heights, NY 10598; (914) 789-7797; Cnet bth@ibm.com.

Compcon Spring 88, Feb. 29-March 4, 1988, San Francisco. Deadline: June 1. The conference provides a broad-based technical update of leading developments in computing. For technical presentations, submit four copies of an extended abstract or full paper. For organizing a three-speaker, 90-minute session or panel or for presenting a one-day tutorial, submit a proposal. Contact Hasan al-Khatib, Electrical Engineering and Computer Science Dept., Santa Clara University, Santa Clara, CA 95053; (408) 554-4485.

IEEE Software March 1988 issue. Deadline: Aug. 1. We seek articles on CASE tools, workstation software, and scientific systems. Contact Ted Lewis, Editor-in-Chief, IEEE Software, c/o Computer Science Dept., Oregon State University, Corvallis, OR 97331; (503) 754-2744; CSnet lewis@oregon-state, Commpinl+1lewls.

IEEE Software May 1988 issue. Deadline: Oct. 1. We seek articles on fourth-generation language development, software legal aspects, and software modeling. Contact Ted Lewis, Editor-in-Chief, IEEE Software, c/o Computer Science Dept., Oregon State University, Corvallis, OR 97331; (503) 754-2744; CSnet lewis@oregon-state, Commpinl+1lewls.

Coling 88, 12th International Conference on Computational Linguistics (ICCL), Aug. 22-27, 1988, Budapest, Hungary. Deadline: Dec. 10. Topics include theoretical issues, computational models, knowledge representation and inferencing, tools for language learning, and software support for language data processing. Submit four copies of an extended abstract no longer than seven double-spaced pages plus a title page. Include a title, author name, complete address, five-line summary, and topic area specification. Contact Eva Hajicova, Mathematics and Linguistics Faculty, Charles University, Malostranske n. 25, 118 00 Prague 1, Czechoslovakia.

The prime requirement for successful software

SOFTWARE
PRACTICE & EXPERIENCE

Editors:
J.A. CAMPBELL,
University College London, UK
D.R. HANSON,
Princeton University, USA

Since its launch in 1970 Software: Practice & Experience has become invaluable to all who design, implement or maintain software. Contributions regularly include:
- accounts of completed software-system projects which can serve as "how-to-do-it" models for future work in the same field
- short reports on programming techniques which can be used in a wide variety of areas
- information on new types of techniques to help with the solution of programming and software-construction problems

Covering both "systems" and "applications" software for use in batch, multi-access, interactive and real-time environments, Software: Practice & Experience is the essential publication for anyone aiming to write successful software.
