

Message from the General Chair

Dear Participants,

On behalf of the organizing committee, it is my great pleasure to warmly welcome you to the 2013 Third International Conference on Advanced Computing & Communication Technologies (ACCT 2013) in Rohtak, India. This conference is organized by RG Education Society, Rohtak, with the aim of disseminating knowledge amongst intellectuals, students and research scholars.

The objective of ACCT 2013 is to provide a highly interactive forum so as to bring together researchers of different disciplines, from academic and research institutions, industry and public organizations with the aim of collecting, exchanging and promoting the knowledge and new advances on computing, communication and control, technologies and applications.

The conference offers about 100 oral presentations by researchers from India and native countries. We are also honored to have several plenary lectures by well-known leading experts from various engineering disciplines. We hope that the lectures and papers presented in the conference will stimulate and inspire future studies and advancement in computing, communication and control.

We also wish to welcome new and returning visitors to Rohtak, India. We hope that you will find opportunities to tour this education-city and also enjoy the beautiful scenes, tasty food, and friendly people. We take this opportunity to express our sincere thanks to the conference advisory committee, program committee, the session chairs, the reviewers, and the volunteers for their great efforts to make the conference possible. We extend our gratitude to our technical sponsor, Mittal Web Solutions and our Publishing Partner IEEE Computer Society CPS. Finally, we thank you for choosing to participate in the ACCT 2013 conference.

Warmly,

J. P. Mittal, President, RG Education Society, Rohtak
