On behalf of the Program Committee, it is a great pleasure for me to welcome you to the 12th Asian-Pacific Software Engineering Conference (APSEC 2005). Inspiringly, we have received an enormous amount of papers from 29 different countries this year. Besides, we are blessed with an abundance of papers, panels, and workshops. The APSEC 2005 program includes three keynote speeches, 22 paper sessions, and two workshops.

An undertaking of this magnitude can’t materialize without the substantial efforts and contributions of many of our committees. Also, we’re very grateful that the workshop organizers made every effort to arrange and organize the marvelous workshops. We really appreciate the three keynote speakers, John Mylopoulos, Rick Kazman, and Sanya Uehara.

We hope APSEC 2005 can benefit all the attendees. And we’re confident that the content of this year’s program is an intellectually motivation contribution to our profession.

Jonathan Lee
National Central University, Taiwan

William Cheng-Chung Chu
Tung Hai University, Taiwan

Pankaj Jalote
Indian Institute of Technology Kanpur, India