Message from CISIS-2010
Program Committee Co-Chairs

Welcome to the Fourth International Conference on Complex, Intelligent and Software Intensive Systems (CISIS-2010). The conference will be held at Andrzej Frycz Modrzewski Cracow College, Krakow, Poland in conjunction with ARES-2010 International Conference.

This is the fourth edition of the CISIS international conference which has consolidating the conference as important international event in the interconnected fields of Complex Systems, Intelligent Systems, and Software Intensive Systems. The goal of this conference is to bring together researchers from the different fields whose work is related to the above three challenging areas of ICT-enabled applications.

The 2010 conference edition was organized in 17 research tracks. The objective was to address and cover each main theme of the Software Intensive Systems, Complex Systems, and Intelligent Systems with a specific research track. The program for this conference is the result of hard and excellent work of many people, including authors, external reviewers, program committee members, track chairs, and conference officers. This year, we have selected 54 quality contributions among the many received for oral presentation (33% acceptance rate). We believe all of these papers will not only provide novel ideas, new results, work in progress, and state-of-the-art techniques in this field, but also stimulate future research activities in the area of Complex Systems, Intelligent Systems, and Software Intensive Systems.

As stated before, a lot of people have helped and worked hard to produce this successful event. We would like to express our sincere appreciation to all of them for their cooperation in completing the conference program under a very tight schedule. Firstly, we would like to thank CISIS General Co-Chairs, Leonard Barolli, and Fatos Xhafa, for bringing together this important event.
