Acknowledgments

The Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency (DARPA) Advanced Technology Office (ATO) was pleased to sponsor the second DARPA Information Survivability Conference and Exposition (DISCEX II) on June 12-14, 2001 in Anaheim, CA. This conference and exposition was designed to be a showcase for the technologies developed by researchers in the DARPA Information Assurance Program and in the Third Generation Security/Information Assurance and Survivability suites of projects.

We acknowledge the hard work of several DARPA Program Managers who have guided these programs over the last five years. They are Sami Saydjari, Douglas Maughan, Brian Witten, Catherine McCollum, Jay Lala, and Michael Skroch.

Several volunteers assisted in the review of the papers contained in these proceedings. We acknowledge their assistance in assuring these volumes contain quality papers and thank them for their service to the information survivability research community.

Carole Kelliher of Schafer Corporation coordinated the conference. Dave Stenger, Cathy Cole, and Sheryl Augustson, also from Schafer, assisted with the creation of graphics for the proceedings and web presence.

Lastly, Jerry Hamilton and Sam Nicholson coordinated the solicitation of papers from the researchers, distribution of submitted papers to the reviewers, collection of comments from reviewers and distribution to the authors, and final solicitation to IEEE. Without their hard work these proceedings never would have been completed.
