Message from the General Chairs

Dear Participants, Dear Guests,

It is our great pleasure to welcome you to the 2 joint conferences of the 13th EUROMICRO Digital Systems Design (DSD2010) and the 36th EUROMICRO Software Engineering and Advanced Applications (SEAA2010) that take place this year in Lille (France), in the Polytechnic Graduate Engineering School within the University of Lille-Nord de France.

Situated in the very heart of Europe, Lille, capital of the Nord-Pas de Calais Region, is proud of its festive traditions and its gastronomy. Lille is the right size for easy living, and Northerners’ generous and warm nature makes visitors feel welcome.

We hope you enjoy the conference, and have a nice stay in Lille.

We would like first to thank the authors for their high quality papers, the program committee and all their associated reviewers for their important efforts to review the increasing number of submissions.

We would also like to take the opportunity to thank our sponsors for their support:
- The regional council of Nord-Pas-De-Calais.
- The universities of: Calais-Littoral Cote d’Opale and Valenciennes Hainaut-Cambrésis.
- The INRIA-Lille Nord Europe, the French National Research Institute at Lille.
- The Polytechnic Engineering School of Lille.

Finally, the organization of such big event is unachievable without the assistance and the help of a whole group of colleagues and PHD students, in particular: Rabie Ben Atitallah, Pierre Boulet, Jean-Luc Dekeyser, Anne Etien, Abdoulayé Gamatie, Aranud Lewandowski, Frédéric Loiret, Philippe Marquet, and Samy Meftali.
To all we say, thank you.

Euromicro DSD 2010 General Chairs
