Welcome Message from the Doctoral Symposium Chairs

We welcome you to the Doctoral Symposium of IC2E’15, the 2015 edition of the IEEE International Conference on Cloud Engineering (IC2E). The Symposium provides a friendly and supportive environment for doctoral students to present and discuss their dissertation research both with their peers and with experienced researchers from academia and industry. In addition to providing feedback and advice, the symposium is an excellent opportunity for students to explore issues of academic and research careers, build relationships with other students working in related fields, and practice presenting their research clearly and concisely.

We thank all the students who submitted the abstracts of their dissertation work. The Symposium will host 6 PhD research presentations, covering diverse aspects of cloud computing. We are also very grateful to all the researchers who will attend the Symposium and will interact with the students in the different events within the context of IC2E’15. A special thanking note goes to the Arizona State University, for providing the travel awards granted to the PhD Symposium presenters.

We look forward to a valuable forum for sharing ideas and providing feedbacks to students that will help them in their thesis work. We hope you will join us for this exciting event where you will have a great experience.

Welcome again and thank you for contributing to the success of the Doctoral Symposium at IC2E 2015!
