Message from the General Chairs

It’s our pleasure to invite you to participate in the Third International Conference on Management of e-Commerce and e-Government (ICMeCG2009), which will be held in Nanchang, September 16-19, 2009.

As we all known, management of e-commerce and e-government has attracted significant attention in the last few years. Although this high profile attention has resulted in significant progress, there are still many open issues to be resolved. We see tremendous synergistic potential in bringing together researchers from this field to share their experiences and explore collaborations. The purpose of ICMeCG conferences is to provide a forum for researchers, developers, administrators, officers and users interested in the management of e-commerce and e-government to present their research results and exchange ideas. ICMeCG2009 is built on the success of the first and second ICMeCG conferences, which were held both in 2003 and 2008 successfully. This year we add several topics associated to the conference theme, such as enterprise management and information system, security of e-commerce and e-government, and mobile commerce, etc.

ICMeCG2009 would not have been successful without the supports of many people and organizations. We would like to thank program co-chairs Jen-Yao Chung and Changxuan Wan, organization staff, program committee members, reviewers and authors. We appreciate deeply IEEE Computer Society for the technical co-sponsorship, and Professor Nazaraf Shah and Juan Guerrero for their distinguished work.

Welcome to ICMeCG2009, we hope all participants can take this opportunity to share and exchange ideas and enjoy the time in ICMeCG2009 and Nanchang, China.
