Welcome from the Chairs

It is our pleasure to welcome you to the first International Workshop on Combinatorial Testing (CT), in conjunction with the 2012 International Conference on Software Testing (ICST'12).

We have a very exciting program, including both experience reports from industry, as well as advances from academia. We hope that you will enjoy this workshop, and take the opportunity to meet with colleagues from academia and industry, exchange information, explore opportunities for collaborations, and develop a community of researchers and practitioners interested in combinatorial testing of software systems.
