MOBILESoft 2016

Within the scope of the MOBILESoft 2016 conference, which aims at bringing together researchers and experts from academia and industry interested in advanced practices related to new challenges in software engineering for mobile applications, special attention is being paid to knowledge promotion via 60-90 minute long tutorials. The role of tutorials collocated with the main conference proved valuable already during the first edition of the conference, and has been continued ever since. In 2016 the conference hosts two tutorials, with one having its 2-page extended abstract included in the proceedings. We would like to thank all the authors of tutorial proposals for deciding to share their extensive knowledge on various topics with the conference participants. Moreover, together with Jonas Sevcik, who assisted me in tutorial proposals evaluation, we would like to express our appreciation to all the experts involved in the conference organization for the endless effort they have dedicated to the success of the conference.

Last, let us wish the participants of MOBILESoft 2016 many insights, useful connections, and further successes in our community.
