MoST 2016

Mobile Security Technologies (MoST) brings together researchers, practitioners, policy makers, and hardware and software developers of mobile systems to explore the latest understanding and advances in the security and privacy for mobile devices, applications, and systems. Topics include research in Identity and access control for mobile platforms, Mobile app security, Mobile cloud security, Mobile hardware security, Mobile middleware and OS security, Mobile web and advertisement security, Protecting security-critical applications of mobile platforms, Secure application development tools and practices, Security study of mobile ecosystems, Unmanned aerial vehicles (UAVs) security and Wearable and IoT security.