Welcome Message from CCS 2011 Co-chairs

Recent interest in cloud computing has been increased dramatically. Survey and evidence show that security has been one of the greatest obstacles for the promotion of cloud computing. The aim of CCS 2011 is to provide a forum for sharing ideas and research work in the emerging areas of cloud computing and cloud security.

CCS 2011 contains high quality research papers submitted by researchers from all over the world. The technical program of CCS 2011 and its reviewers have made every effort to review and select the best among all. CCS 2011 would like to thanks TPC members and reviewers for the effort, as well as the authors for their excellent result and contributions.

We hope you will enjoy the conference and have a great time in Singapore.
