Keynote Speaker
The ‘Grand Challenge’ in Informatics: Engineering Software-Intensive Systems

Manfred Broy, Technische Universität München

Abstract
Tackling the daunting challenges of complex software systems development requires a broad stream of research supported by several new technical competencies, including a good understanding of system modeling, the effective use of models, and a modeling theory of discrete event systems.

http://doi.ieeecomputersociety.org/10.1109/MC.2006.358